

INSPIRATION / GENESIS

Acoma – the name of an North American Indian tribe known for its exceptional ability to cooperate and collaborate also in the field of management. Acoma is a structure where the headman acts as a mediator, guide and a consultant, instead of being the absolute power. The tribe's headquarter, called the "Sky City", was located on top of the mountain. It was never conquered.

PHILOSOPHY

While creating my own company, I was guided by similar values. Cooperation and constant development make it possible to overcome obstacles and climb further tops. Development is a process of continuous improvement. Moreover, it is, in my regard, the essential condition to achieve ambitious goals as well as the capital on which I gain the competitive edge. I perceive progress as a constant change that allows us to be at the forefront. Acoma, up and forward.

EXPERTISE

I started my career as a logistics analyst. My core set of values allowed me to climb up the ladder, on my way to the top. Currently, I have over ten years of experience in both management (Chairman of the Board) and supervising (as a member of Supervisory Board) of joint-stock and limited liability companies.

ACADEMIC

My path is not just empirical. My broad management experience is supported by academic achievements. I have a PhD degree in Management Science.

HOW I WORK

The drive to constantly improve my skills, along with my twenty-five years of working experience and academic knowledge allow me to apply reliable and innovative methods of operation.

▲ ON THEIR WAY TO THE TOP, I HELPED:

BabySafe

VALUES

Irrespective of the area of expertise, I am always devoted to the highest standards of cooperation, operational flexibility and respect for people and their work.

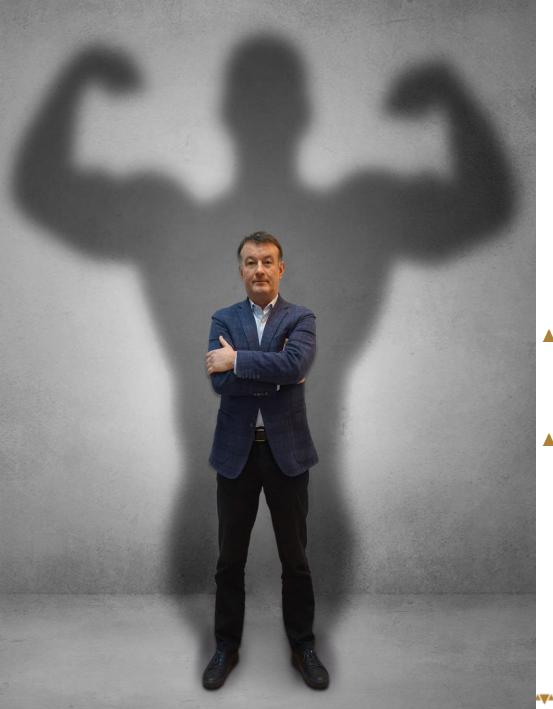

As Interim Manager, I offer guidance in:

- Raising the level of management efficiency within the entire company as well as individual departments,
- Assisting in risk management,
- Motivating individual employees and teams,
- Introducing knowledge management as a catalyst to improve competitiveness of the enterprise,
- In addition, I also provide support of professionals with minimum twenty years of experience, with whom I work on a daily basis. The areas of their expertise include finance and accounting, marketing, PR and legal advice.

In addition, my strengths are:

- Unique experience of managing an import company during a multifaceted dispute with the SEAT/VW concern.
- Proven record of highly motivated teams and well-skilled managers as a result of my mentoring and coaching methods.

Let's reach the top. I look forward to hearing from you.

- ▲ Tomasz Grzyb, PhD
- +48 721 233 455
- ▲ tomasz.grzyb@acoma.eu